

ENGL-1302-004I2-FA2025
Composition II
Fall 2025
Online

Instructor Information: Ryan Smith, rsmith37@com.edu, 832-766-8391

Office hours and location: Online course; instructor is available Fridays from 1pm – 2pm

Required Textbook/Materials:

- The Other Wes Moore: One Name, Two Fates, by Wes Moore
- Netflix

Course Description: Intensive study of and practice in the strategies and techniques for developing research-based expository and persuasive texts. Emphasis on effective and ethical rhetorical inquiry, including primary and secondary research methods; critical reading of verbal, visual, and multimedia texts; systematic evaluation, synthesis, and documentation of information sources; and critical thinking about evidence and conclusions.

Course requirements: Course Completion: One of my goals as an instructor is to help students recognize the value of persistence and not giving up. Your completion of the course will therefore factor into your grade (a full letter grade). Course completion means completing every assignment and finishing the semester.

Timeliness: Personal responsibility is a crucial part of life. Oftentimes, that means completing tasks within a particular time frame. There are a total of 14 items that you will be tasked with completing this semester. For each item that is submitted late, you will lose 10 points from that grade. See the grade formula below for more details.

Weekly HW (other than major assignments): Your completion of weekly HW is crucial not only to your success, but it is also a way for me to assess whether or not you are engaging with the learning material. Outside of the major assignments, HW includes watching weekly videos, listening to podcasts, reading articles + books, watching TV shows/films, and completing weekly discussion posts.

Unit 1 (Week 1-2): Understanding + Contributing to Social Discourse

Our first lesson in this class will be centered on the idea that active reading involves social discourse. Before that though, you must learn how to understand what you are reading. We will actively go through this process together with particular scholarly articles and readings.

Summary/Response Essay

You will be completing this essay as proof that you have successfully understood how to find scholarly articles, decipher them, and contribute to the conversation.

Unit 2 (Week 3 + 4): Creative Non-Fiction as Argumentation

In relation to reading scholarly work, reading literature can lead to important discussions about the human experience. Certainly, we can find rhetoric in literature as well. We will discuss the assigned book for this class – The Other Wes Moore – at length, and you will learn how to think both specifically and broadly in relation to the text. You will be tasked with creating open-ended questions for your peers and responding to some as well.

Written Response Essays

During this unit, you will be given various prompts to consider. Your task will be to choose two of the questions and generate 2 pages of content per question. This will push you to showcase your in-depth reading of the text and your own thoughts/contributions.

Unit 3 (Week 5 + 6): Recognizing Arguments + Rhetoric in Media

Shifting gears from the written word, we will explore other contexts of meaning-making through digital means, such as social media, music, TV shows, and films.

Rhetorical Analysis

After learning how to recognize rhetoric and discuss it, you will venture into your own individual rhetorical analysis of any genre that interests you.

Unit 4 (Week 7 + 8): Creating Argumentation + Rhetoric

Once you have learned how to recognize and discuss rhetoric, you will create your own through this unit's major assignment.

Podcast Project

You will be tasked with creating your own 15-30 min podcast segment over anything that you wish, though it must result in some kind of "argument." Alongside the process of crafting this podcast, you will write a paper contextualizing and situating it in the scope of the material you have learned in this class, outside sources that surround the conversation, and your take on its applicability to the human experience. By the time this assignment comes around, I hope that you will feel empowered through understanding that an argument can be anything, and most certainly, can be something you are passionate about.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula:

Course Requirements	# of Items	Point Value	Semester Point Total
Course Completion/Participation	1	100	100
Timely Submissions	14	10	140
Discussion Posts	8	20	160
Summary/Response Essay	1	100	100
TOWM Written Responses	2	100	200
Rhetorical Analysis	1	100	100
Podcast Project - Contextualized Paper (2 parts) - Podcast	3	2 - 50, 1 - 100	200
Total Semester Points			1000

Late Work, Make-Up, and Extra-Credit Policy: You will have two 24-hr late submission opportunities that you can utilize with no grade penalty. You may use either of them on a discussion post or major assignment. If you choose to use one, you must notify me. Other than the late-submission opportunities, submitting late will result in 10 points deducted from the “Timely Submission” grade. Once the submission portal closes for an assignment, your opportunity to make up that assignment will not be accepted, and you will receive a zero.

Attendance Policy: Because this is an online class, your attendance will be recorded based on logging into our Brightspace course shell and viewing/completing weekly requirements. Please be mindful of the importance of every assignment/discussion post in this class. Failure to complete required work two weeks in a row may result in being dropped from the course. If not dropped, it more than likely will result in you failing the course.

Communicating with your instructor: ALL electronic communication with the instructor must be through your COM email. Due to FERPA restrictions, faculty cannot share any information about performance in the class through other electronic means.

Academic Dishonesty: Any incident of academic policy will be dealt with per college policy and the Student Handbook. Academic dishonesty – such as cheating on exams – is a serious offense and will result in a grade of zero on that exam, assignment, or project, and the student will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for the appropriate disciplinary action.

Plagiarism/AI Statement: Plagiarism consists of using someone else’s words or ideas and claiming them as your own, paraphrasing someone else’s words without proper citation, copying directly from a website and pasting it into your paper, and/or using someone else’s words without quotation marks. Content generated by an Artificial Intelligence third-party service or site (AI-generated content) without proper attribution or authorization is another form of plagiarism.

Do not use an AI paraphrasing or rephrasing tool like Quillbot or ProWritingAid. Do not use ChatGPT, Grammarly, or any platform with similar functions. Violations could result in failure of the assignment, failure of the course, and referral to the Office of Student Conduct.

Student Concerns: If you have any questions or concerns about any aspect of this course, please contact me using the contact information previously provided. If, after discussing your concern with me, you continue to have questions, please contact the Humanities Department Chair, Dr. Brian Anderson: 409-933-8186, banderson@com.edu

Course outline: This course is split into 4 units (2 weeks per unit). Since we are operating on an 8-week schedule, the expectations of personal responsibility, time management, and effort are of great importance. You are learning 16 weeks’ worth of content in 8 weeks; because of this, expect to complete a significant amount of reading/writing per week. I have done my best to organize this course so that you are able to begin working on each major assignment within two weeks of its due date. Please be diligent and proactive.

Tentative Course Outline/Calendar: Below you can find a general outline of what we will cover each week alongside due dates. Weekly HW (reading/videos/etc.) is not listed below but will be listed on Brightspace each week.

Institutional Policies and Guidelines

Grade Appeal Process: Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook <https://www.com.edu/student-services/student-handbook.html>. An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course. Disagreement with the instructor's professional judgment of the quality of the student's work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal.

Academic Success & Support Services: College of the Mainland is committed to providing students the necessary support and tools for success in their college careers. Support is offered through our Tutoring Services, Library, Counseling, and through Student Services. Please discuss any concerns with your faculty or an advisor.

ADA Statement: Any student with a documented disability needing academic accommodation is requested to contact:

Kimberly Lachney, Student Accessibility Services Coordinator

Phone: 409-933-8919

Email: AccessibilityServices@com.edu

Location: COM Doyle Family Administration Building, Student Success Center

Textbook Purchasing Statement: A student attending College of the Mainland is not under any obligation to purchase a textbook from the college-affiliated bookstore. The same textbook may also be available from an independent retailer, including an online retailer.

Withdrawal Policy: Students may withdraw from this course for any reason prior to the last eligible day for a "W" grade. Before withdrawing students should speak with the instructor and consult an advisor. Students are permitted to withdraw only six times during their college career by state law. The last date to withdraw from the 1st 8-week session is October 1. The last date to withdraw from the 16-week session is November 14. The last date to withdraw for the 2nd 8-week session is November 25.

FN Grading: The FN grade is issued in cases of failure due to a lack of attendance, as determined by the instructor. The FN grade may be issued for cases in which the student ceases or fails to attend class, submit assignments, or participate in required capacities, and for which the student has failed to withdraw. The issuing of the FN grade is at the discretion of the instructor. The last date of attendance should be documented for submission of an FN grade.

Early Alert Program: The Student Success Center at College of the Mainland has implemented an Early Alert Program because student success and retention are very important to us. I have been asked to refer students to the program throughout the semester if they are having difficulty completing assignments or have poor attendance. If you are referred to the Early Alert Program you will be contacted by someone in the Student Success Center who will schedule a meeting with you to see what assistance they can offer in order for you to meet your academic goals.

Resources to Help with Stress: If you are experiencing stress or anxiety about your daily living needs including food, housing or just feel you could benefit from free resources to help you through a difficult time, please click here <https://www.com.edu/community-resource-center/>. College of the Mainland has partnered with free community resources to help you stay on track with your schoolwork, by addressing life issues that get in the way of doing your best in school. All services are private and confidential. You may also contact the Dean of Students office at deanofstudents@com.edu or communityresources@com.edu.

Nondiscrimination Statement: The College District prohibits discrimination, including harassment, against any individual on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, age, veteran status, disability, sex, sexual orientation, gender (including gender identity and gender expression), or any other basis prohibited by law. Retaliation against anyone involved in the complaint process is a violation of College District policy.
