Interpersonal communication: Relating to others. Boston: Pearson Education, Inc. OPTIONAL

Course Description: This is a course in the theory and practice of human interaction, including the study of self-concept, perception, listening, creating and developing relationships, conflict management, as well as verbal and non-verbal communication. *This course is a 3-credit hour semester course, and it is transferable.

Course requirements: SPCH 1318 (Interpersonal Communication) is based on a 1000 points system. Your final grade in this course is based on your performance in the following areas:

- 10 assignments
- 1 mini presentation (in-class)
- Final film analysis presentation (in-class)

Special Project: A Film Analysis PowerPoint Presentation

- This assignment is worth 500 of your overall grades. The assignment provides Interpersonal Communication (IC) students with an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to identify, describe, and understand interpersonal theories, concepts, and principles. Students will also demonstrate understanding of the relevance of cross-cultural, co-cultural, gender and age influences on human communication.
- Students are to choose a major motion picture from the APPROVED list provided in class. After watching the movie, students are to identify Interpersonal Communication (IC) concepts depicted in the movie. The objective is to demonstrate how each concept is portrayed in the film of choice.
- Students will also identify and explain the relevance of co-cultural, cross-cultural, gender and age of the IC relationships portrayed in the films.

- Students will develop an argument in support of how the concept is illustrated in the movie, scene and/or among the characters. Students are to teach and clarify concepts/theories, such as:
 - The concepts or theory’s purpose and relevance to interpersonal communication and relationships.
 - How this information can be applied to everyday life?
 - Is the IC concept applied effectively or ineffectively?
 - Elaborate and support their opinion.
 - Evaluate the quality of the relationship(s) as it is demonstrated in the film.
- Students will demonstrate critical thinking ability by effectively researching, evaluating, and applying communication theories in oral and/or written assignments. A minimum of one source (i.e., an academic, peer-reviewed journal article) is required.
- The information will be presented in PowerPoint OR Prezi format.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula: Your grades for SPCH 1318 are based on a one thousand (1000) point system. A grade tracking sheet has been provided for you (see below) to help you keep track of scores and progress.

C	695 – 794 (Average)
F	0 – 594 (Unacceptable)

Make-Up Policy:

The opportunity to make up a missed assignment is left to the professor’s discretion.

All major assignments MUST be submitted through D2L. Failure to do so will result in losing 30% (or more) of the assignment grade.

Attendance Policy:

Attendance is vital and mandatory! Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Aside from military service and religious holidays, absences in college courses are not defined as “excused” or “unexcused”.

Dual credit and collegiate high school students will be counted as absent if they do not attend class due to high school extracurricular activities (i.e., sports, fields trips, etc.) as they will be held to the same standards as all students.

Students are allowed to miss four (4) classes for the entire semester. After reaching the limit, a full letter grade will be deducted from the student’s semester average for each additional absence. For example, if a student’s semester average is 92% (A) and the student has missed a total of six (6) classes for the semester, the final semester grade will be a 72% (C).

Excessive absences can easily eat away at your semester average, so avoid skipping class and reserve these absences in case a personal issue arises.

Please note: the professor reserves the right to drop a student from the course. If, however, it becomes the student’s decision to not continue in the course, the normal procedure for dropping a course should be followed by the student. Remember, it is not the professor’s responsibility to initiate the withdrawal in such a case and failure to do so by the student may result in an “F”. All students should familiarize themselves with the posted “W” Day cutoff. It is the student’s responsibility to withdraw from a class. If a student simply stops participating in the class and does not officially withdraw before “W Day”, it will result in receiving an F in the course. This is the easiest way to fail a course and the most preventable. Mark your calendars for this semester’s “W-Day”!

Communicating with your instructor: ALL electronic communication with the instructor must be through your COM email. Due to FERPA restrictions, faculty cannot share any information about performance in the class through other electronic means.

Institutional Policies and Guidelines

Grade Appeal Process: Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook https://www.com.edu/student-services/docs/Student_Handbook_2023-2024_v2.pdf. An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course. Disagreement with the instructor’s professional judgment of the quality of the student’s work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal.

Academic Success & Support Services: College of the Mainland is committed to providing students the necessary support and tools for success in their college careers. Support is offered through our Tutoring Services, Library, Counseling, and through Student Services. Please discuss any concerns with your faculty or an advisor.

ADA Statement: Any student with a documented disability needing academic accommodations is requested to contact Kimberly Lachney at 409-933-8919 or klachney@com.edu. The Office of Services for Students with Disabilities is located in the Student Success Center.

Textbook Purchasing Statement: A student attending College of the Mainland is not under any obligation to purchase a textbook from the college-affiliated bookstore. The same textbook may also be available from an independent retailer, including an online retailer.

Withdrawal Policy: Students may withdraw from this course for any reason prior to the last eligible day for a “W” grade. Before withdrawing students should speak with the instructor and consult an advisor. Students are permitted to withdraw only six times during their college career by state law. The last date to withdraw from the 1st 8-week session is October 11. The last date to withdraw from the 16-week session is November 28. The last date to withdraw for the 2nd 8-week session is December 7.

FN Grading: The FN grade is issued in cases of failure due to a lack of attendance, as determined by the instructor. The FN grade may be issued for cases in which the student ceases or fails to attend class, submit assignments, or participate in required capacities, and for which the student has failed to withdraw. The issuing of the FN grade is at the discretion of the instructor. The last date of attendance should be documented for submission of an FN grade.

Early Alert Program: The Student Success Center at College of the Mainland has implemented an Early Alert Program because student success and retention are very important to us. I have been asked to refer students to the program throughout the semester if they are having difficulty completing assignments or have poor attendance. If you are referred to the Early Alert Program you will be contacted by someone in the Student Success Center who will schedule a meeting with you to see what assistance they can offer in order for you to meet your academic goals.

Resources to Help with Stress:
