

ENGL-2328
American Literature II
Fall 2024

Instructor Information: Donny Wankan, dwankan@com.edu, 281-229-6476

Office hours and location: N254, Monday-Wednesday, 2:45-3:30

Required Textbook/Materials: Students will need access to the internet and a laptop or computer. They will also need paper and a pen for some in-class assignments.

We will read five longer works throughout the semester: The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn (Mark Twain), My Antonia (Willa Cather), Invisible Man (Ralph Ellison), Batman: Year One (Frank Miller and David Mazzucchelli), and White Noise (Don DeLillo). We'll also read various shorter works. It is the student's responsibility to attain copies of the assigned readings.

Course Description: A survey of American literature from the Civil War to the present. Students will study works of prose, poetry, drama, and fiction in relation to their historical and cultural contexts. Texts will be selected from among a diverse group of authors for what they reflect and reveal about the evolving American experience and character.

Course Requirements:

Besides the assignments as described below, class activities and teaching tools may include presentations, videos, and supplemental readings. Students are expected to read and review all material assigned.

Reading Responses

Students will respond to the readings in writing and within in-class discussions. Students are expected to complete assigned readings and provide responses showing a thorough knowledge of the assigned texts.

Reading Quizzes

Quizzes will be given to ensure the reading has been completed.

Research and Analysis

Students will respond analytically to the readings, and they will include research in various forms throughout the semester

Final Exam/Project

Students' knowledge of the course material will be assessed in two parts: a traditional exam covering course material, and a project demonstrating each students' knowledge and understanding of the course material.

Professionalism

Students are expected to attend class regularly, participate in the classroom assignments and activities, and show courtesy and respect to the instructor and fellow students. The professionalism score will reflect how well the students meet those expectations.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula:

Quizzes/Reading Responses 20% Research and Analysis 20% Exams/Projects 50% Professionalism 10%

Grading Scale: A=90-100, B=80-89, C=70-79, D=60-69, F=0-59.

Students will be given a letter grade rather than a number grade in this course.

Late Work, Make-Up, and Extra-Credit Policy: Late work may be accepted for classwork and essays within limits and according to instructor discretion. Students will lose points on assignments accepted late (15% per day). Major Writing assignments and projects will not be accepted more than one day late. I will not continue to accept late assignments if it becomes a habit.

Students will have access to class slideshows, online assignments, and course documents through course software online, so due dates will apply even with absences. Exceptions will be made only in exceptional circumstances. Technology problems, extracurricular activities, and tests or projects in other classes are not acceptable excuses for missing assignment due dates. In other words, plan ahead and be ready when/if these kinds of things come up.

Attendance Policy: Attendance and punctuality are both requirements of the course. Frequent absences and tardies will be penalized by a reduction in the professionalism score. Work missed because of unexcused absences will not be accepted late. Consistently absent or tardy students (6 or more absences and 7 or more tardies) will receive 0 credit for professionalism.

Communicating with your instructor: ALL electronic communication with the instructor must be through your COM email or via Brightspace. Due to FERPA restrictions, faculty cannot share any information about performance in the class through other electronic means.

Plagiarism includes (but is not limited to) paraphrasing someone else's words or ideas without giving proper citation, copying directly from a website or other source into your paper without proper citation, using someone else's words without quotation marks, or submitting work written by AI. Any assignment containing any plagiarized material will receive a grade of zero, and the student will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for the appropriate disciplinary action and remediation. Writecheck.com provides some guidance on this issue (<http://en.writecheck.com/ways-to-avoid-plagiarism/>), and Grammarly in Google Docs also has a plagiarism check if you want to double check your work for proper documentation.

Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook https://www.com.edu/student-services/docs/Student_Handbook_2024-2025_v2.pdf. An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course. Disagreement with the instructor’s professional judgment of the quality of the student’s work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal.
