The Little Seagull Handbook (Third Edition (Bullock, Brody, and Weinberg) (Seagull in Syllabus)

Course Description: English 1301 is designed as an introduction to college-level, academic writing. This course teaches the principles and techniques of written composition, textual analysis of non-fiction prose, and critical thinking. Activities and assignments include paragraphs, essays, research, and analysis and discussion of assigned readings.

Course requirements: We will be writing three short essays, and one longer MLA-documented research paper as well as a taking a syllabus quiz and completing an online library research tutorial, an oral presentation and discussions via Blackboard. The student will be required to write on the assigned topics with the exception of the research paper for which the student will choose his or her own topic. The majority of the writing will be argumentative; however, students will also write a descriptive paper. Students will also view a number of films as the springboard for the writing assignments.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula:

Essays (2) (CT, COM, TW, PR)	600 points (3 @ 300 points each)

Institutional Policies and Guidelines

Grade Appeal Process: Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook.

Academic Success & Support Services: : Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook. <https://build.com.edu/uploads/sitecontent/files/student-services/Student_Handbook_20192020v5.pdf. An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course. Disagreement with the instructor's professional judgment of the quality of the student's work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal. https://build.com.edu/uploads/sitecontent/files/student-services/Student_Handbook_2019-2020v5.pdf

ADA Statement: Any student with a documented disability needing academic accommodations is requested to contact Michelle Brezina at 409-933-8124 or mvaldes1@com.edu. The Office of Services for Students with Disabilities is located in the Student Success Center.

Textbook Purchasing Statement: A student attending College of the Mainland is not under any obligation to purchase a textbook from the college-affiliated bookstore. The same textbook may also be available from an independent retailer, including an online retailer.

Withdrawal Policy: Students may withdraw from this course for any reason prior to the last eligible day for a "W" grade. Before withdrawing students should speak with the instructor and consult an advisor. Students are permitted to withdraw only six times during their college career by state law. The last date to withdraw for the 16 Weeks session is November 18, 2022.

F_N Grading The F_N grade is issued in cases of failure due to a lack of attendance, as determined by the instructor. The F_N grade may be issued for cases in which the student ceases or fails to attend class, submit assignments, or participate in required capacities, and for which the student has failed to withdraw. The issuing of the F_N grade is at the discretion of the instructor. The last date of attendance should be documented for submission of an F_N grade.

Early Alert Program: The Student Success Center at College of the Mainland has implemented an Early Alert Program because student success and retention are very important to us. I have been asked to refer students to the program throughout the semester if they are having difficulty completing assignments or have poor attendance. If you are referred to the Early Alert Program you will be contacted by someone in the Student Success Center who will schedule a meeting with you to see what assistance they can offer in order for you to meet your academic goals.

Resources to Help with Stress:

If you are experiencing stress or anxiety about your daily living needs including food, housing or just feel you could benefit from free resources to help you through a difficult time, please click here <https://www.com.edu/community-resource-center/>. College of the Mainland has partnered with free community resources to help you stay on track with your schoolwork, by addressing life issues that get in the way of doing your best in school. All services are private and confidential. You may also contact the Dean of Students office at deanofstudents@com.edu or communityresources@com.edu.

Grading Rubric and Printing Symbols

You will soon receive your evaluated Diagnostic Essay.

I grade using what is known as holistic grading. In other words, I look at the essay as a whole and focus on three primary areas: content, grammar/mechanics/rhetoric, and form, which includes MLA style.

Content is what you said. It involves how you approached the topic, whether the paper you submitted was on topic, how you supported your arguments, and whether or not the paper's thesis was in control of the writing. This section relates to the prompt provided, and whether or not the paper adhered to the topic and logically developed and supported it.

Grammar, mechanics, and rhetoric refer to how you said it. Was standard written English employed throughout the essay? Did the paper's errors seriously distract the reader from what was being said? Were effective means, such as spell check, employed to alleviate the paper's errors? Was the paper carefully proofread? A detailed list of grammatical and mechanical abbreviations will be discussed later in this document. Remember, the writer should do all the work when writing.

The reader should not have to work to figure out what is being said.

Form refers to MLA 8 (2016) style and paper requirements for all essays written in the course, and specific form issues related to each assignment. I strongly encourage you to review the paper requirements handout. It does say paper requirements, not paper suggestions. Errors with the heading, header, title, margins, works cited, and internal citations all fall under this category. Here is a guide to standard printer symbols that you may find throughout your paper:

If you have any questions about comments made on your paper, please see me during my scheduled office hours, and I will be happy to review your writing with you and give you additional feedback about how to improve for the next paper.

I request that you wait 24 hours before contacting me to allow yourself time to read ALL the comments made.

I will also suggest that you utilize COM's Tutoring Center, especially if you have serious grammatical and mechanical issues. I understand that getting back that first paper can be a traumatic experience—remember that I was seated on the other side of the desk at one time—and I make every effort to make my directions clear, and my comments specific. Hopefully, you will see this first writing sample as a learning experience and will not make the same mistakes in the subsequent writing samples.

Remember that this is a diagnostic writing sample, and even though it is not graded, it provides valuable feedback and acts as the springboard for the Grammar Oral Presentation, which is a graded assignment.

As a final note, please review the student learner outcomes, both primary and secondary, found on your course syllabus. Before you can receive a passing grade in the course, you must demonstrate that you have achieved these outcomes. Part of that demonstration comes in the form of the essays and research paper that you complete in the course.
