Course Description: Intensive study of and practice in writing processes, from invention and researching to drafting, revising and editing, both individually and collaboratively. Emphasis on effective rhetorical choices, including audience, purpose, arrangement and style. Focus on writing the academic essay as a vehicle for learning, communicating and critical analysis.

Prerequisites: TSIA2 945-990 ELAR/CRC test AND 5 or higher on Essay OR 910-944 on CRC with 5-6 on Diagnostic Test + 5 or higher on Essay, or IRW 0320 with a grade of "C" or better.

Course requirements: English 1301 is designed to be an introduction to college-level, academic writing. The purpose of this course is to teach the principles of the writing process and the techniques associated with communicating with an audience through various means both effectively and with authentic purpose. You will critically analyze and write constructive responses to non-fiction prose and other media by utilizing the standard composition and grammatical conventions.

Assignments include one diagnostic essay to determine your writing style, what strengths and weaknesses need to be addressed, as well as allow me to get to know you, the budding writer. You are required to participate in Brightspace discussion prompts in addition to classroom discussions. You will have one rhetorical essay with which you can use to springboard your collaborative team project. You will work as a team to work on a social media post/campaign that will help persuade others to your point of view and present as a group in class. You will research and write on a topic that you have fully researched with an annotated bibliography, Work Cited page, and outline. Finally, you will keep an electronic portfolio of your work and write a reflection piece to self-critique your progress through the course.

 A note on Personal Responsibility**

The personal responsibility grade will be included in the Course Activities grade category and will be assessed at the end of the semester. Students are expected to read and view all required course content materials, utilize the Course Toolbox provided in the Resources folder on D2L/Brightspace, the COM Tutoring Center. Carefully read and follow all instructions and turn in all required assignments by the designated due date and time. Additionally, the following actions will negatively impact this grade:

- Being consistently tardy or leaving early
- Walking in during speech presentations
- Using a cellphone during class
- Talking during lectures or presentations
- Using offensive language towards others
- Being unprepared for class
- Etc. (other unprofessional behaviors will be discussed in class)

Late Work, Make-Up, and Extra-Credit Policy:

Late Work/Make-up Policy: Deadlines are posted on Brightspace, the course syllabus, course calendar, and assignment sheets given in class. Assignments must be submitted in Brightspace before 11:59 p.m. on the specified due date. Assignments submitted up to three days past the due date will receive a deduction of 10 points. Assignments submitted beyond this point will not be accepted unless special arrangements are made BEFORE the due date.

Note: You have the right to redo any assignment, providing that you have (1) turned in the original assignment and received a grade, (2) your first rewrite is due 1 week after I have graded the original assignment.

Attendance Policy:

You are expected to be prepared, in class on time, and ready to fully participate in every scheduled class session. Class discussion and group activities are components of your success in this course. A sign-in sheet will be provided during each class to keep a record of attendance. Be sure you sign in when you enter the classroom. It is your responsibility to keep up with missed course work should you need to miss a class.

Aside from military service and religious holidays, absences in college courses are not defined as being “excused” or “unexcused.” You are allowed to miss two and half (2.5) classes for the entire semester. After you have reached this limit, I will deduct one full letter grade from your semester average for each additional absence. For example, if your semester average is a 92 (“A”) and you have missed a total of seven classes for the semester, your final semester grade will be a 72 (“C”). As you can see, excessive absences can easily eat away at your semester average, so avoid skipping class and reserve these absences in case a personal issue arises.

Tardiness: It is vital to the classroom experience to be on time. Students arriving ten (10) minutes after the beginning of class will receive a “mark” in attendance. Three (3) of these marks will equal to one absence. Students arriving after the 20-minute point will remain marked absent for the class period. These same rules apply to leaving early.

Please do not abuse the above policy: It is meant to be insurance, not an excuse to arrive late to class every day. I reserve the right to revoke this policy if I feel it is being abused by any individual in the class.

*Absences are considered excused for military service, religious holidays, and documented illness.

Communicating with your instructor: ALL electronic communication with the instructor must be through your COM email. Due to FERPA restrictions, faculty cannot share any information about performance in the class through other electronic means. Please ensure that you monitor D2L/Brightspace to keep abreast of any changes, course announcements, syllabus changes will be reflected in the OLS and embedded course calendar.

General Education Core Objectives: Students successfully completing this course will demonstrate competency in the following Core Objectives:

1. Critical Thinking Skills: Students will demonstrate creative thinking, innovation, and the ability to analyze, evaluate, and synthesize information.
2. Communication Skills: Develop, interpret, and express ideas through written, oral, and visual communication.
3. Social Responsibility: Students will demonstrate intercultural competence, knowledge of civic responsibility, and the ability to engage effectively in regional, national, and global communities.
4. Personal Responsibility: Evaluate choices and actions of others or one's own, and relate consequences to ethical decision-making.

Academic Dishonesty: "Plagiarism" means the appropriation of another's work and the unacknowledged incorporation of that work in one's own written work for credit. "Collusion" means the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work offered for credit."

Please note that the use of artificially intelligent software, such as ChatGPT, when composing essays is also considered unethical. All essays will be scanned using a software called Turnitin, a software that detects plagiarism and the use of AI software.

Violation of the Scholastic Honesty code will result in a "0" for the assignment and any chance of a rewrite will not be allowed. Repeat offenders may face probation or dismissal from the college system. What I've noticed from past experience is that many students who plagiarize do so because they are having problems with the assignment. Please, if you are tempted to do this, resist the urge and talk to me about the problems. We'll work something out.

Avoiding Plagiarism:

The following resources were created to help students understand what plagiarism is and how to avoid it.

- How to Cite and Avoid Plagiarism (A very good YouTube lecture series that covers subtle to egregious forms of plagiarism. I recommend it for all students.)
- You Quote It, You Note It! (Sponsored by Acadia University's library, this website also covers what plagiarism is and is not, but in an interactive way.)
