The MyITLab access code may also be available from the publisher's website. Ordering MyITLab from websites other than Pearson could result in the inability to access the MyITLab learning tools or the electronic textbooks.

If you want to order the MyITLab access code directly from Pearson, you do not need an ISBN. You purchase the access code, Technology in Action, 15e (with eText) directly online. Instructions are on Blackboard.

Inside MyITLab online, the student will find the following:

1. eText: Alan Evans, Kendall Martin and Mary Anne Poatsy, for "Technology in Action Complete, 15th Edition",
2. eText: Go! With Microsoft Office 2016, Volume I
3. All MyITLab assignments, tests, notices, comments for study instruction and other items.

A print version of "Technology in Action" is not required for this course. The bookstore does not stock print copies. However, if you want a print version, please contact the instructor or the publisher (Pearson).

Course Description

This course presents an overview of computer systems—hardware, operating systems, and microcomputer application software, including the Internet, word processing, presentation graphics, spreadsheets (including data analysis), and databases. Current issues such as the effect of computers on society, and the history and use of computers in business, educational, and other modern settings are also studied.

Course Requirements

You are required to log into Blackboard at least once a day for announcements.

This is an online course. Two course learning systems are used: Blackboard and Pearson's MyITLab, with eText. Blackboard is used for all announcements, instructions for using MyITLab, other help topics and course email messages. MyITLab is used for all tests and Microsoft Office assignments.

The course is in two parts: computing concepts and Microsoft Office applications. The material for computing concepts is an electronic textbook with videos in MyITLab. The Office assignments are also in MyITLab. To complete the Microsoft Office assignments, you will need Office 365 or Office 2016 (or later) on your computer. Instructions for both the electronic textbook and downloading the Office Applications are in Blackboard. The Office Applications are all free of charge to COM students.

The work of this course must be accomplished on a computer, not a smart phone. A Windows-based computer with a minimum of four gigabytes (GB) of RAM (Random Access Memory) is required. You may do your work on a Macintosh. Additionally, you must have a reliable broadband Internet connection.

Computer and Internet access: Regarding problems with your own computer and with Internet access, COM is not responsible for outages, and due dates will not be extended.

Course Work Deadlines: All work must be completed on time. Due dates will not be extended. Contact the instructor if you have a documented emergency. Please note the deadline times refer to the timing on the Pearson server, not on your personal computer or your phone. Be sure your time zone is set to Central Time in MyITLab.

Computing Concepts, Technology in Action - Assignments and Tests

You are expected to read carefully each chapter assigned in "Technology in Action". There will be a test over the chapters in "Technology in Action" according to the schedule in this syllabus. All tests will be taken in the MyITLab Course Learning System. The student is allowed one attempt for each test.

At the end of the semester, the lowest test grade (Technology in Action) will be dropped from your grade calculation for tests. There are no tests on the Microsoft Office Applications.

Late Work / Extra Credit Work

All students are expected to complete assignments and tests on time.

There are three extra credit Microsoft Office Assignments due at the end of the semester at midnight. They are on the calendar in MyITLab and on the course outline in this syllabus. These are the only extra credit assignments. Each assignment has the possibility of adding one percentage point to your final grade. So, if you complete three extra credit assignments, making 100% on two of them and 50% on one of them, then 2.5 points will be added to your final grade. For example, if your semester grade is 87.6 and you complete these extra credit assignments, your final grade would be 90.1.

Attendance Policy: This is an Internet course that does not meet in the classroom.

Communicating with your instructor: ALL electronic communication with the instructor must be through your COM email. Due to FERPA restrictions, faculty cannot share any information about performance in the class through other electronic means. You are expected to log into Blackboard at least once a day to view announcements.

Grade Appeal Process: Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook. <https://build.com.edu/uploads/sitecontent/files/student-services/Student\_Handbook\_2019-2020v5.pdf>. An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course. Disagreement with the instructor's professional judgment of the quality of the student's work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal.
