Required Open Educational Resource (OER) Textbook: The American Yawp: A Massively Collaborative Open U.S. History Textbook, Vol 1: To 1877. This is a free open-source textbook, easily accessible online at www.AmericaYawp.com. Reading assignments are listed on page 9 of the syllabus. Material drawn from the textbook will account for 10% of each exam.

Course Description: A survey of the social, political, economic, cultural, and intellectual history of the United States from the pre-Columbian era to the Civil War/Reconstruction period. United States History I includes the study of pre-Columbian, colonial, revolutionary, early national, slavery and sectionalism, and the Civil War/Reconstruction eras. Themes that may be addressed in United States History I include American settlement and diversity, American culture, religion, civil and human rights, technological change, economic change, immigration and migration, and creation of the federal government.

Determination of Course Grade:

Exams: There will be four exams during the semester with a value of 100 points each. Exam material will be drawn from both lectures and assigned readings. Students should pay particular attention to the terms in the study guides. Each exam will consist of fifty multiple-choice questions. Each question will be worth two points. Make-up exams will be given only under extraordinary circumstances, and all make up exams will have an automatic 10-point penalty assessed.

Assessment Quizzes: In addition to the five exams, there will be seven two-question quizzes during the semester. These quizzes will be given at the end of the class and will cover two main points of that day's lecture The five highest quiz scores will be kept, and the lowest two quiz scores will be dropped. Quizzes are to identify at-risk students. Once at-risk students are identified, a plan will be developed in conjunction with the student with the goal of improving their performance in the class. Each quiz will be worth twenty points. Quizzes cannot be made up. If you miss a quiz, it will count as one of the two quizzes that will be dropped.

Textbook Chapter Discussions: There are two textbook chapter discussions. There is a textbook chapter discussion in Modules 1 & 2. There is no textbook chapter discussion for Modules Three and Four. The discussion questions are available in D2L Brightspace at the beginning of each module. After reading the textbook chapter, you will upload a roughly 200-word discussion to the course's D2L Brightspace shell responding to the discussion question. You can turn in the discussion at any time, but it must be turned in on or before that module's deadline. See the course outline section of the course for chapter discussion deadlines. Each discussion posting is worth 50 points. Chapter discussions will not be accepted past the exam deadline and will be recorded as zeros in the grade book.

Discussion postings will be evaluated using the following rubric.

- 45 - 50 points: Contains all required elements
- 40 - 44 points: Contains most required elements
- 35 - 39 points: Missing some required elements
- 30 - 34 points: Missing most required elements
- 29 or less points: Missing all required elements

Oral Communication Assignment: One of the key core objectives you will develop in college is oral communication skills. To help you develop this skill, this course has an oral communication assignment. The student will select a topic from U.S. history during the time period covered in the course and make a five-minute oral presentation on the topic. Students will record their oral presentation and then upload the presentation to D2L Brightspace in the "Assignments" section of the course, or you can upload the presentation to YouTube and then upload the link to D2L Brightspace.

The deadline for the oral communication assignment is 11:59 p.m., October 7. No late oral communication assignments will be accepted, NO EXCEPTIONS. The oral communication assignment is worth one hundred points. This is a high value assignment. Failure to turn this assignment will adversely affect your final course grade.

The oral communication assignment will be graded according to the following formula:

- Verbal Communication - 20 points
- Nonverbal Communication - 20 points
- Content - 30 points
- Organization - 30 points
- 100 points

Paper Assignment: In the paper assignment the student will analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources, then create an argument using historical evidence in a two-page paper (double-spaced, 12-point font, Times New Roman). In your paper you must use at least one primary source and two secondary sources. The paper assignment will address the following Core Objectives: Critical Thinking Skills, Communication Skills, Social Responsibility, and Personal Responsibility.

In addition to analyzing and interpreting primary and secondary sources and constructing an argument using historical evidence, the student MUST include a section in their paper discussing the social and personal responsibility (using the definition on page 6 of the syllabus) of the individuals involved in the topic. Students must discuss these individuals and the issues they were involved in using critical thinking and effectively communicate their views on these topics in their papers.

The deadline for uploading the paper assignment to D2L Brightspace is 11:59 p.m. on November 4th. No late papers will be accepted, NO EXCEPTIONS. The paper assignment is worth one hundred points. This is a high value assignment. Failure to turn this assignment will adversely affect your final course grade.

- Was there a message or moral to the story?
- Can the message or moral be applied to life?
