Course Description: This course is a study of United States history since 1877, from the Civil War to the present. This course will emphasize political, social, and economic developments, as well as other significant topics. This course (a) meets the requirements of a college transfer course for four-year degree programs (b) prepares students for upper-division coursework in history (c) prepares students for the academic rigors of upper-division coursework in the social sciences (d) prepares students in developing their critical thinking skills.

Course requirements: This is a course that requires the student to attend lectures. Each lecture contains material that is not available in the textbook, material that the student is responsible for and will be tested upon, therefore it is essential that students make a concerted effort to attend class. If a student is absent from class, they are responsible for acquiring the lecture notes from a classmate. Rigorous note taking and studying of lecture notes is mandatory if the student is to succeed in the class. In addition to attending lectures, students are expected to read the textbook assignments.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula:

Exams:

The student will take three exams throughout the semester. Each exam will cover the lectures, class discussions, and textbook. The class will be broken into three major segments or themes and each theme will address a specific main point that discusses and highlights the events, people, movements, etc in history. Each exam completes a segment of history and no exam is cumulative. These themes or ideas will be emphasized and elaborated on strengthening what role they play in American History as the country evolves politically, socially, economically, and militarily. The first 2 exams will contain 40 multiple choice questions worth 2.5 points each and the final exam will be 50 multiple choice questions worth 2 points each. Each exam is separate from the other 2 and no exam is cumulative. Total points for each exam is 100 points.

Historical Thought Paper: There are 3 topics in 1302 the student can choose to do containing 2-3 pages. The topics are: 1) significance/importance of the Foreign Policies that involved the US in the late 1800s; 2) significance/importance of World War 1; 3) significance/importance of Cold War. This is not a research paper, but more of a thought/analytical/perspective paper over 1 of the 3 topics. More information will be made in class for the students.

The Thought Paper is due on Brightspace at 11:59 pm on February 3, 2024. No Late Work Accepted.

History Book Analytical Assignment:

I am going to assign a book to read that is both appropriate for the time period of this 1302 class and length of pages and scope so you won't be over-whelmed and risk the chance of getting behind or lost. The book I will have you read – either as a digital copy online (there are various places to read it on line for free or to buy, or a copy of the physical version) is the Diary of Anne Frank.

Once you have read the book, you will write up a 2-3 page Analytical Paper fully analyzing it from your own cognitive and analytical input, thinking and understanding. The format is simple and will abide to the principle of encouraging the student to fully engross and immerse into the book or author's main central ideals and overall purpose. The format to use and follow is as follows: 12 Point Font, Times New Roman, Double Spaced and is worth a 100 points.

The student will read the book and work on understanding the topic and purpose analytically and most importantly attempt or infer on the historical moments and place to the context of the time, period, place, people, events, etc. In roughly 2-3 pages, the student will pull from the book what they have chosen to find a theme or an overall arching arc of the chapters and content that pushes them to think critically and analytically about the book.

This can be done in several paragraphs that capitalizes and comments on the entire scope of the book.

A purposeful guide in these paragraphs could be included in their papers that touch on the authors beginning chapters, middle chapters, and final chapters that complete and compliment the message of the author. The student could also approach the book from the perspective on picking out 1 or 2 very common and useful points that creates a theme that is used throughout with the intent of explaining and highlighting while strengthening it as it relates to the time period, event, movement, etc. There is no right or wrong way to analyze and write a 2-3 paper for this assignment as long as the student immerses themselves into the book and focuses on the content, its proper historical context and to critically think beyond the normal and typical level rather than typing up a summation or quick overview of the book with no thought, understanding and grasp.

The assignment if it falls into the 2-3 page range will include at least and up to 5-7 paragraphs with the hope and aspiration for the student to push themselves and challenge their critical and analytical skills that far exceed what they have done before or that is different from a book report, review or a research paper. If a student has questions, confused or needs some help in understanding the assignment better, needs clarification I encourage them to ask, reach out and stay on top of the assignment and requirements. Most importantly is for them to be creative, critical and analytical in their approach, book, and paper when its completed and ready to turn in.

If you have any questions please don't hesitate and email me.

The History Book Analytical Assignment is due on Friday May 3, 2024 on Brightspace at 11:59 PM. No late work accepted.

New Deal Presentation:

The students will select 1 New Deal Plan, research it and create a power point presentation project to turn in. The presentation each student does must be in power point presentation and will contain any and all vital information that the student finds on their selected New Deal Plan. This presentation will illustrate and show the students just what Americans and the Country was experiencing during the beginning and the height of the Great Depression. The presentation will be worth 100 points. This is a solo and not a group presentation.

Due Date for New Deal Presentations: Friday March 8, 2024 at 11:59 PM on Brightspace.
