Required Textbook: James Henretta, Rebecca Edwards, et al., America's History: Concise Edition, 10th edition, Boston: Bedford/St, Martin's, 2021.

Course Description: History 1301 is a survey of the social, political, economic, cultural, and intellectual history of the United States from the pre-Columbian era to the Civil War/Reconstruction period. United States History I includes the study of pre-Columbian, colonial, revolutionary, early national, slavery and sectionalism, and the Civil War/Reconstruction eras. Themes that may be addressed in the United States History I include" American settlement and diversity, American culture, religion, civil and human rights, technological change, economic change, immigration and migration, and creation of the federal government. All assignments open at 6:00 am and close at 7:00 pm.

Course requirements: (including description of any special projects or assignments) – see below.

Exams: There will be five module exams during the semester with a value of 100 points each. Exam material will be drawn from both lectures in each module and assigned readings from the textbook. Students should pay particular attention to the terms in the study guides and test review questions which are posted on Blackboard. Each exam will consist of fifty multiple-choice questions. Each question will be worth two points.

Assessment Quizzes: In addition to the five exams, there are five lecture unit quizzes. There will be ten questions for each of the five modules. These quizzes will also consist of multiple-choice questions on main points made in the module being studied and from the textbook. Each module quiz will be worth twenty points. Accordingly, quiz grades will count for a total of 100 points toward the overall course grade. Do not confuse the practice quizzes and practice crossword puzzles that are in each module. The practice quizzes and practice crossword puzzles in the lecture part of each module are for practice, are not graded and do not count towards your grade. However, be sure and try to answer these quizzes, as they will be good practice for the quizzes that do count towards your grade. The quizzes in the assessment section of the course count towards your grade. All exams taken after the deadline will be subject to a 15 point penalty. Quizzes should be taken before taking the exams. If a student does well on the quiz, then that student may be ready to take the exam. How students perform on the quiz should serve as a barometer as to how prepared they are to take the exam. There will also be a short quiz over the syllabus to test students' understanding of what is expected for this course (worth 20 points).

Identify: For each module there will also be one identify question to complete. These questions will be important individuals or events that occurred for that test period. Each answer will be worth a maximum of five points. Thus, for each module these identify questions will be worth 5 points (a total of 25 points for all five modules). Students will have a choice of which identifies to answer. The instructor will list at least two identifies and students will answer only one. Responses should be in 14-point font and should answer why this person or event was important. Responses should be at least eight well-written sentences. Assignments can be submitted as an attachment or copied and pasted.

The following is a grading rubric for writing the identify responses:

The following is a grading rubric for writing the Identifies:

Below Expectations (0 to 3 points) - summary does not demonstrate an understanding of the topic; information is inaccurate or incomplete; poorly written with several English-related errors.

Meets Expectations (4 points) - summary demonstrates an understanding of the topic; has few English-related errors and is well written.

Exceeds Expectations (5 points) - summary demonstrates an exceptional understanding of the topic; exceptionally well written with no English-related errors.

Video Quiz: For each module or test period there will be one short film to watch and take a quiz on that film. The url film link will be in Quizzes (Assessments) in the instructions. These quizzes will be worth 10 points each.

Primary Documents: For each module students will read one primary document and write a summary of that document. Each document assignment will be worth 10 points each (a total of 50 points for all five modules). Assignments can be submitted as an attachment or copied and pasted.

The following is a grading rubric for writing the primary document responses:

Below Expectations (0 to 6 points) - summary does not demonstrate an understanding of the topic; information is inaccurate or incomplete; poorly written.

Meets Expectations (7 to 9 points) - summary demonstrates an understanding of the topic and is well written.

Exceeds Expectations (10 points) - summary demonstrates an exceptional understanding of the topic; exceptionally well-written.

Personal Responsibility Assignment: Students will read a true story called “The Late Paper”. They will analyze the story and write a summary evaluating choices and actions of those in the story. As part of the same assignment, students will relate at least two instances in which poor or good choices related to education impacted their own lives (and how). This assignment is worth 20 points.

Social Responsibility Assignment: One of the course requirements (from the state of Texas) is to write a major paper on social responsibility. This paper is worth 50 points. Your paper should be at least three pages and no more than three and a half pages (14 point font, double spaced) and will be submitted in Assessments. You need to cite three different references. At least one reference should be from a journal or magazine. Use journal articles from Academic Search Complete and/or American History Online. These sources are found in the COM library and are available online. Ask a librarian for help. You do not need to use a particular style manual (i.e., APA, MLA, etc.). There are thousands of journal articles through the COM library - <http://libguides.com.edu/> using Academic Search Complete. In referencing the journal article, you should list the name of the journal, title of the article, the author of the article, the date of the article, the pages of the article, and volume of the journal (if one is given). If listing other sources, you should give enough information for me to find the source. Sources should be at the end of the three-page report. The citation information does not need to comply with a particular style manual.

Students have choices for their report. Students will write about one of the reform movements prior to the Civil War (abolition, women's rights, temperance, education, treatment of the insane and development of asylums, and lastly, the creation of penitentiaries in the U.S.). Students should not include information on these topics after 1861. Who were the key men and women in the reform movement and what were their views on social responsibility to alter society for the better? What successes and failures did these reformers have? How did the reform movement you select impact the United States? What resistance existed to the reform movement you select and why were there obstacles to social change? Use people and historical events/acts to strengthen your paper. Several points will be deducted if papers do not mention people and events. Students may use the textbook, other books in the library, videos, and sites on the internet. Remember to proof your work before submitting. You should mention the words "social responsibility" at least once during your report.

Syllabus and Course Quiz: There will be one syllabus and course quiz which will have 25 questions. Each question will be worth 1 point. The purpose is to ensure students have a good understanding of course requirements. Most answers will be found in the syllabus.

Oral Presentation (Speech): Students will be required to give one, five-minute speech during the semester worth 40 points. All history classes at College of the Mainland have a speech requirement. Students may select a person or event studied this semester for a speech topic. Additional information about this requirement is in Content in the menu, then click Speech-related links and read the instructions. The Oral Presentation will address the following Core Objectives: Communication Skills (CS2) and Communication Skills (CS3).

Visual Communication Assignment: Students will also write a two-page summary of their speech topic. The speech will be worth 40 points and the written summary will be worth 20 points. Included at the end of the written summary of the speech must be at least two pictures related to the speech topic. The pictures will be after the two-page summary. The Oral Presentation will address the following Core Objectives: Communication Skills (CS2) and Communication Skills (CS3).

Class Discussion/Interaction - Reparations: In this assignment each student will use Discussions to give three reasons why the U.S. government should and should not pay reparations to African Americans. Read the instructions in Discussions for further details. 50 points

Extra credit opportunities may occasionally be offered at the discretion of the instructor.

Map Quizzes: There will be three map quizzes. One quiz will be over the location of the original 13 colonies and another quiz will be over the location of some of the countries in Europe. A third map quiz will be over Central and South American countries. All quizzes will be multiple choice.

Reconstruction Assignment: Students will cite six individuals and write about how they contributed to successes of African Americans during Reconstruction. Students will also be asked to cite six events/acts that contributed to the successes of African Americans during Reconstruction.

Matching: There will be nine matching quizzes.

YES/NO Response: There will be one Yes/No response quiz.

Total points (excluding extra credit) for the semester will be a maximum of 1,103 points.

Determination of Course Grade/Detailed Grading Formula:

Below is a tentative grading scale. The instructor may add additional assignments which will change the point range and letter grades. If the instructor adds additional assignments, this grading scale will be adjusted accordingly.

At the end of the semester, the instructor will add all points including any extra credit. The instructor will use this tentative scale below to determine the final letter course grade. The numbers on the left represent the range of points needed for a particular course grade. For example, 772 points is needed as a minimum for a course grade of a C – again this scale is subject to change if additional assignments are added.

| Point Range | Letter Grade |
|---------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1103 - 993 | A (90 to 100% average) |
| 992 - 882 | B (80 to 89% average) |
| 881 - 772 | C (70 to 79% average) |
| 771 - 661 | D (60 to 69% average) |
| 660 or below | F (59% or below average) |

Late Work and Make-up/Extra Credit Policy: Late work (for grades) will not be accepted (which includes all assignments except major exams). All exams taken after the deadline will be subject to a 15-point penalty, and can only be taken with the approval of the instructor. One point may be subtracted for each minute a quiz or exam is submitted past the allotted time period. Extra credit may occasionally be available.

Technology Outage Policy: Occasionally the College may experience emergency technology outages. Should this occur during an exam or quiz, you will need to notify the instructor that you will need the exam or quiz to be reset. Students are responsible for completing all other course work such that due dates can be met. In case of an emergency technology outage that is campus-wide, students will have an opportunity to submit assignments as long as they were submitted within the newly designated due date that will be posted as an “Announcement.” In case of a personal technology issue or if you have questions about an assignment or need clarification of requirements, you are expected to contact the instructor.

Netiquette: When communicating via the online mechanisms of this course it is important to remember that those communications are conducted in a public forum and should reflect a level of professionalism reflective of that forum. At a minimum such communications should be respectful of others and use appropriate writing mechanics (spelling, grammar, etc.). For more information, go to:

<http://studygs.net/netiquette.htm>.

Technology Requirement: (optional but strongly encouraged)

Mozilla Firefox is the recommended Brightspace browser

<http://www.mozilla.org/en-US/firefox/new/> and other software, required plug-ins or applications can be found at

http://com.parature.com/ics/support/default.asp?deptID=15028&_referrer=.

Students will need internet access for successful completion of this course.

College of the Mainland has a number of Computer Labs for students to access the internet.

Routine Brightspace Maintenance is scheduled periodically and is noted on Brightspace. If you have problems with Brightspace, do not send technical support questions to the instructor. See a support ticket to <http://desupport.com.edu/requests>. Student-related questions may be answered in the student handbook which may located at Tips to be successful: (a) Make a copy of the course calendar found in this syllabus. Use the calendar to know when assignments open and close. The calendar also has the location of where the assignment can be located. (b) do not wait until the day an assignment is due to start working on that assignment. (c) try to turn assignments in early. If you have an issue or problem (personal, technical) and wait until the day an assignment is due to turn it in, you will have no room to maneuver.

Institutional Policies and Guidelines

Grade Appeal Process: Concerns about the accuracy of grades should first be discussed with the instructor. A request for a change of grade is a formal request and must be made within six months of the grade assignment. Directions for filing an appeal can be found in the student handbook. <https://build.com.edu/uploads/sitecontent/files/student-services/Student_Handbook_2019-2020v5.pdf.

An appeal will not be considered because of general dissatisfaction with a grade, penalty, or outcome of a course.

Disagreement with the instructor's professional judgment of the quality of the student's work and performance is also not an admissible basis for a grade appeal.
