Determination of Course Grade:

Exams: There will be four exams during the semester with a value of 100 points each. Exam material will be drawn from both lectures and assigned readings. Students should pay particular attention to the terms in the study guides. Each exam will consist of fifty multiple-choice questions. Each question will be worth two points. Make-up exams will be given only under extraordinary circumstances, and all make up exams will have an automatic 10-point penalty assessed.

Quizzes: In addition to the five exams, there will be seven two-question pop quizzes during the semester. These quizzes will be given at the end of class, directly following the lecture. The five highest quiz scores will be kept, and the lowest two quiz scores will be dropped. Quizzes are to identify at-risk students. Once at-risk students are identified, a plan will be developed in conjunction with the student with the goal of improving their performance in the class. Each quiz will be worth twenty points. Quizzes cannot be made up. If you miss a quiz, it will count as one of the two quizzes that will be dropped.

Textbook Chapter Discussions: There are two textbook chapter discussions. There is a textbook chapter discussion in Modules 2 and 3. There are no textbook chapter discussions for Modules One and Four. The discussion questions are in D2L Brightspace and are available on the first day of each module. After reading the textbook chapter, you will upload to D2L Brightspace a 200-word minimum discussion responding to the discussion question and you must respond to another student's discussion posting. You can submit your discussion posting at any time between the start and end dates of each module, but it must be turned by the module's end date. See the course outline section of the course for chapter discussion deadlines. Each discussion posting is worth 50 points. Chapter discussions will not be accepted past the exam deadline and will be recorded as zeros in the grade book.

Discussion postings will be evaluated using the following rubric.

- 45-50 points: Contains all required elements
- 40-44 points: Contains most required elements
- 35-39 points: Missing some required elements
- 30-34 points: Missing most required elements
- 29 or less points: Missing all required elements

Oral Communication Assignment: One of the key core objectives you will develop in college is oral communication skills. To help you develop this skill, this course has an oral communication assignment. The student will select a topic from U.S. history during the time period covered in this course and make a five-minute oral presentation on the topic. Students will record their oral presentation on either their cellphone or their computer and then upload the presentation to D2L Brightspace in the "Assignments" section of the course, or you can upload the presentation to YouTube and then upload the link to D2L Brightspace.

The deadline for the oral communication assignment is 11:59 p.m., March 4. No late oral communication assignments will be accepted, NO EXCEPTIONS. The oral communication assignment is worth 100 points. This is a high value assignment. Failure to turn this assignment will adversely affect your final course grade.

The oral communication assignment will be graded according to the following formula:

- Verbal Communication - 20 points
- Nonverbal Communication - 20 points
- Content - 30 points

In your paper you must use at least one primary source and two secondary sources. The paper assignment will address the following Core Objectives: Critical Thinking Skills, Communication Skills, Social Responsibility, and Personal Responsibility.

In addition to analyzing and interpreting primary and secondary sources and constructing an argument using historical evidence, the student MUST include a section in their paper discussing the social and personal responsibility (using the definition on page 7 of the syllabus) of the individuals involved in the topic. Students must discuss these individuals and the issues they were involved in using critical thinking and effectively communicate their views on these topics in their papers.

The deadline for submitting the paper assignment to D2L Brightspace is 11:59 p.m. on April 3. No late papers will be accepted, NO EXCEPTIONS. The paper assignment is worth 100 points.
